

A

is for

ABANDONABLE

Chris' Abecedarium of Dysphemisms

ABANDONABLE

Capable of being abandoned.

BAROQUE

Grotesque or whimsical ornamentation.

CHURLISH

Common, boorish or rude,
surly, ungracious.

Also consider: Carlish, plebeian, raffish, and vulgarian.

DENIALIST

Go to: scienceblogs.com/denialism.

EDENTULOUS

Lacking teeth.

FOOFARAW

Fussy, vain, gaudy, tawdry.

Also consider: moppet.

GOMER

Inept; a simpleton.

Also consider: mouth-breather and nincompoop.

HOMUNCULE

A little man.

Also consider: Lilliputian, poppet, and wretchock.

IMAGINARIAN

A person fascinated with imaginary things.

Also consider: Economist and plutonomist.

JARGONAUT

A person who uses excessive jargon.

KINKADIAN

Garish, unsophisticated art or craft.

LESTRIGONIAN

Excessive consumption; a cannibal.

MAWKISH

Sickly; nauseating; having a puerile sentimentality.

Also consider: Norman Rockwellesque

NEOPRIMITIVISM

An appreciation of unsophisticated values, beliefs, or styles.

Also consider: Hippie.

OBLIVISCIBLE

Forgettable.

Also: Benign, mousey, and oubliable.

PANJANDRUM

A pompous official.

QUIXOTIC

Lofty enthusiasm for visionary, foolish ideals

Also: Libertarian, Panglossian.

RAPEY

Likely to rape.

Also: Little Caligula.

SACCHARINE

Excessively sweet.

TABLOIDESQUE

Sensationalist.

Also consider: Newzak and pap.

UNCTUOUS

Oily or greasy; fat, fulsome.

VEBLENIAN

An act of conspicuous consumption.

WEMMED

Stained or disfigured.

Also consider: Nicotined.

XANTIPPE

An ill-tempered woman, a shrew.

YAWNY

Characterized by or causing yawns.

ZOOID

Resembling an animal.

Also consider: Murine, porcine, simian.